Preface

The Constitution of India guarantees equal rights to all its citizens including children irrespective of gender, age, physical and mental status. But considering the vulnerability of children, the constitution has specific Articles for them. Some of them concerning the right to Development of children are as follows;

Article 39 (f) of the Constitution of India states that children are to be given opportunities and facilities to develop in a healthy manner and in conditions of freedom and dignity and that childhood and youth are to be protected against exploitation and against moral and material abandonment.

Article 46 of the Constitution of India provides, "The State shall promote with special care the educational and economic interest of the weaker sections of the people, and in particular, of the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes, and shall protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation."

The Constitution (Eighty-sixth Amendment) Act, 2002 inserted Article 21-A in the Constitution of India to provide free and compulsory education of all children in the age group of six to fourteen years as a Fundamental Right in such a manner as the State may, by law, determine.

To give effect to these Articles several legislations have been enacted. The RTE Act, 2009, The Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, Protection of Children Against Sexual Offences, 2012 etc are prominent. These Acts guarantee the rights of children in the form of benefits and entitlements which are applicable for all the children across the country in a uniform manner without any discrimination.

In this regard, to ensure quality education of children, the Government (Centre and State) have initiated various schemes for establishment of hostels for promoting education in all areas and habitations of the country. In addition, there are private initiatives in providing residential educational facilities for children. There is a need to obtain uniformity in norms and standards of facilities within such institutions which are managed by different departments/schemes/programmes and projects of government sector and institutions of private sector.

These Hostels are currently part of certain government systems/schemes and maybe following norms and standards laid down by their respective schemes or privately owned. Different Rules and regulations result in lack of uniformity.

Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 and its Rules, 2016 has documented the norms and standards of facilities for well-being of children in case of children residing in child care institutions in need of Care and Protection. These Rules have been framed and notified after in-depth research and analysis and wide consultations. However, management of hostels does not fall under purview of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015. But, the facilities for ideal living conditions in hostel, individual entitlements for ideal living conditions in hostel for children need to be elucidated in a very clear manner to ensure a safe and secure childhood especially even when the children are not residing with their parents.

Under Section 13 (1) (a) of CPCRA Act, 2005, the NCPCR has been mandated to (a) examine and review the safeguards provided by or under any law for the time being in force for the protection of child rights and recommend measures for their effective implementation; and U/s 13 (1) (k) the Commission is mandated to such other functions as it may consider necessary for the promotion of child rights and any other matter incidental to the above functions.

Keeping above in view, the Commission has developed the 'Regulatory Guidelines for Hostels of Educational Institutions for Children' with the objective to ensure safety and security of children and their rights in hostel premises. The guidelines cover all aspects of a child's need especially when he/she is alone and far from parental care.

I hope these guidelines will prove a useful tool for concerned departments and stakeholders to understand and play their role effectively for better care and protection of children.

Acknowledgements

Hostels of Educational Institutions for Children remained an unregulated space uptill today. Several instances have been reported to the Commission regarding violation of the rights of children with regards to their entitlements due to them in hostels for the purpose of education. There are various hostels running under various schemes of the Government and privately run educational institutions. Fees are either being charged by the stakeholders in some hostels or services are offered on charity basis in some. There has been lack of uniform regulation in functioning of hostels for the purpose of Education across the country.

National Commission for Protection of Child Rights had entrusted the responsibility on me as Member to realize this vision. I am satisfied that inputs have been provided by various concerned government and non government bodies on the draft guidelines before finalizing it. I am hopeful that these regulatory guidelines shall be of much help and use to bring uniformity in regulating hostels of educational institutions, both in government as well as private institutions from elementary education to higher levels.

I am also hopeful that these guidelines shall bring uniformity in hostels under various schemes and programs of State Governments as well. The said guidelines shall be of use while formulation of any new schemes for provisioning hostels for children upto 18 years of age by the Government (both Centre and State) and while amending any existing schemes, program, guidelines w.r.t hostels of children for educational institutions.

In formalizing the vision of the Commission for formulating these guidelines, I extend my gratitude to Smt. Stuti Kacker, Chairperson of the Commission for guiding and supporting me. I also wish to extend my sincere thanks to the Members of this Commission Shri Yashwant Jain and Smt. Rupa Kapoor for giving their valuable inputs.

I extend my thanks to all the stakeholders who made their contribution by providing their suggestions and comments to make these guidelines robust and comprehensive.

I extend my special thanks to Shri Paresh Shah, Technical Expert (Education), NCPCR for his painstaking efforts in organizing content with me and giving the guidelines a final shape. I also acknowledge contribution of Dr. Madhulika Sharma, Shri Rajnikant and Shri Dushyant Meher- Technical Experts of NCPCR Education Division for their inputs. Thanks to Shri Nikhil Thakur, DEO, NCPCR for assisting during the process of drafting this document.
